

A New Daily Paper.

By WILLIAM COBBETT,

WILL BE PUBLISHED,

On the 30th of October 1800,

A NEW

DAILY PAPER,

TO BE ENTITLED

The Porcupine.

FOR an explanation of the motives from which this Paper has been undertaken, and of the principles upon which it will be conducted, the Public are respectfully referred to the Prospectus, which may be obtained by an application to any of the Newsmen, or at the house of the Proprietor, No. 18, PALL MALL.

THE PORCUPINE will be a Morning Paper. The Office for printing and publishing is at No. 3, SOUTHAMPTON STREET, STRAND.—For the convenience of Correspondents, a letter-box will, previous to the day of publication, be fixed near the door of the printing-office: those who may have occasion to write by post will please to direct their letters (always post paid) to WILLIAM COBBETT, No. 18, PALL MALL, whither, also (as well as to the Newsmen in general), Orders for the Paper may be sent.

It was intended not to publish the First Number till the 24th of November, and was so notified in the first edition of the Prospectus; but the Proprietor, having already received what he deems a sufficient assurance of public encouragement and support, has determined to hasten his arrangements, and to begin publishing on the day above mentioned.

On Thursday, the 23d of October, the Office in SOUTHAMPTON STREET will be opened for the receiving of Advertisements, an early communication of which is requested; and, as some Gentlemen may possibly intend to preserve complete files of THE PORCUPINE, it is proper to suggest to them the necessity of giving their Orders previous to the publication of the First Number.

Pall Mall, 10th Oct. 1800.

Printed by S. GOSNELL, Little Queen Street, Holborn.
